CHRISTMAS

Rabbi Urges Jews To Accept Christ

TORONTO, Ont., (JTA)—Jewish circles were discussing this week the statement of Rabbi Maurice N. Eisendrath in the Holy Blossom Synagogue in which he declared that it was high time the Jews of the world accepted Jesus as a prophet.

Calling upon Jew and Christian to unite in the cause of a common humanity, he described Christ "as the towering figure that will lead them gently into this comradeship and fellowship with those multitudes that find in this gentle Jew the profoundest object of their reverence and esteem."

3 of 4 Christmas Broadcasts Are Made By Jews

CHICAGO (NCJC)—Of the four Christmas broadcasts on the air here, three were by Jews.

On Dec. 18 over the ABC network, Rabbi Joshua L. Liebman of the K. A. M. Temple spoke on "The Spirit of Christmas." On Dec. 23, Rabbi Louis L. Mann of Sinai Temple, spoke over a coast-to-coast hookup of the Columbia Broadcasting System on "A Rabbi Looks at Christmas."

On Dec. 27, Rabbi Felix Levy, president of the Central Conference of American Rabbis, broadcast over WENR on "A Rabbi's Christmas Message."

Over WCFL, the powerful labor station, participating in a thirty-minute broadcast were members of the three faiths, Catholic, Protestant and Jewish.

Rabbi Asks Clergy To Protest Against Anti-Semitism

NEWARK, N. J. (NCJC)—The Christian clergy was urged here by Dr. Marius Ranson, rabbi of Temple Sharey Tefilo, of East Orange, and president of the Essex County Conference of Catholics, Jews and Protestants, to include in their Christmas sermons a word of protest against anti-Semitism. His plea was contained in a letter to The Newark Evening News, according to an announcement by that newspaper today.

"Though we Jews do not celebrate Christmas," he said, "we rejoice that the message of 'peace on earth, good will toward men' has been carried to the ends of the earth."

"As president of the Essex County Conference of Catholics, Jews and Protestants, it has been my privilege during the past year to observe many indications of good will that maintain between Jews and Christians of this section of the country. Indeed, may not this be said for all America? The past year has seen the strengthening of the bonds of sympathy all over the land."

Pointing out that "across the seas such brotherhood is not so evident in many lands, and the Jews have been made the scapegoat to divert the people from their economic and political evils," Rabbi Ranson further declared: "If, therefore, I may appeal to the Christian clergy of Essex County, it is that the message of good will to be preached on Christmas specifically include the Jews, and direct attention of Christian congregations to the discriminations that are practiced against the Jews by those who pay only lip service to the teachings of the Prince of Peace."

"If the Christian clergy direct its attention to anti-Semitism it will do much to extend the empire of peace on earth and good will toward men of good will."

Jews Blamed As Aid Sent Spain By Histadruth

SEVILLE, Spain (JTA)—The rebel organ ABC this week coupled world Jewry and Soviet Russia as jointly responsible for the Spanish civil war. In an article captioned "When Israel Rules," the paper declared:

"The poor, illiterate Spaniards are being misled by the Levys or the Samuels of New York, London and Paris."

Charging that Spaniards were being slaughtered by Jews and their property destroyed by Jewish orders, the article continued:

"Spain is at the present time in a fight not only with Soviet Bolshevism, but also with world Jewry, which operates under instructions of a secret Jewish committee. The Jews having obtained Russia wish also to take Spain. The newspapers abroad are helping them because they are all owned by Jews."

Histadruth Aids Loyalists

PARIS (JTA)—The Labor Unions International announced this week receipt of 1,000 pounds (about $5,000) for the Spanish loyalist cause from the Palestine General Jewish Federation of Labor. A number of Palestinians have passed through France to join Madrid's international brigade, it was disclosed.

Rabbi New Head of Minister's League

STAMFORD, Conn. (NCJC)—Rabbi Louis J. Haas of Temple Beth El, Stamford, Conn., was elected president of the Stamford Ministers' League at the annual meeting of the organization. This is the first time in the history of the local ministers' group that a rabbi has been chosen to this office.

Rabbi Haas has been spiritual leader of Temple Beth El for the past six years. He has been active in the community's social and civic affairs; chairman of the Interfaith Committee; member of the executive board of the Jewish Center; past president of the Brandeis Zionist Society; member of the Lions' Club; member of the Speakers' Bureau of the Community Chest.

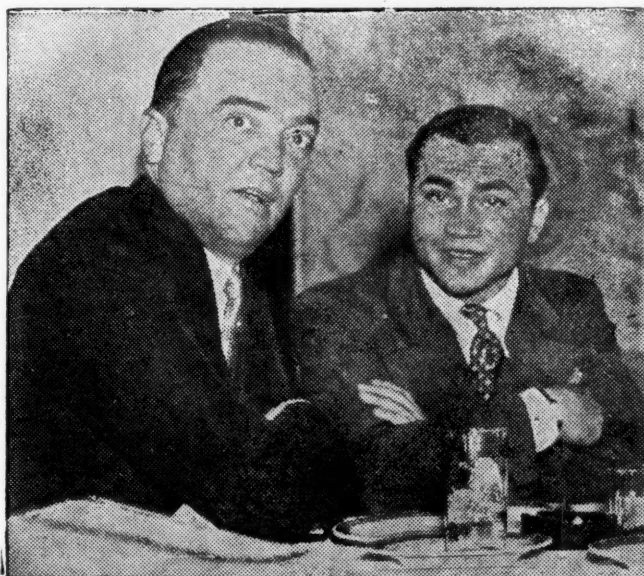

FAMOUS LAWYER OUSTED

BERLIN (JTA)—Veteran Nazis this week forced the resignation of Prof. Karl Schmidt, outstanding German law authority, from his functions, on charges that he has been pro-Jewish, pro-Catholic and pro-Liberal at various times. It was expected that the case would have repercussions.

BUTLER UPHOLDS STAND

NEW YORK (JTA)—Attacking the boycott as "an unworthy intellectual weapon," President Nicholas Murray Butler this week justified Columbia University's participation in Heidelberg University's recent 550th anniversary celebration in his annual presidential report.

Barney Tells Hoover Of Fight Plans

Barney Ross is shown above telling J. Edgar Hoover, G-man head, of his fight plans, which may take him to Australia for a bout, which was announced as off

500 Nazi Books to Stay at Denver U.

DENVER, Colo. (JTA)—Despite protests of anti-Nazis, officials of the Denver University have decided to keep on the shelves of its library a collection of 500 books—including Hitler's "Mein Kampf"—presented by Chancellor Hitler.

Assistant Library Director Joseph Hare, who had asked the German government for the books, said that most of them were free of Nazi propaganda and one was a photographic facsimile of the Book of Genesis.

Speakers at a protest rally had demanded that the books be burned and anti-Nazi volumes placed on the shelves instead.

Hersholt Aryan; Quins Film Okey

BERLIN (JTA)—The "Aryan" ancestry of the American actor Jean Hersholt having been established to his satisfaction, Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels has permitted exhibition in Germany of "The Country Doctor," film starring the famous Dionne quintuplets. Mr. Hersholt plays the role of Dr. Allan A. Dafoe, the quintuplets' physician.

Doubt as to Mr. Hersholt's "Aryan" descent was dispelled by agents of Twentieth Century-Fox, American producers of the film, following several months of research into his ancestry in his native city of Copenhagen.

German Choir Refuses to Perform While Nazis Usher

CINCINNATI, O. (Spl.)—The local Nazi group is not looked upon with favor by the German Youth Choir of Cincinnati, and this fact was made quite evident last Sunday evening at the Hughes High School Auditorium.

The performance of the German operetta, "Hanz Fiedelman," was scheduled to begin promptly at eight o'clock. Everything was in readiness. The stage director was there, as was the musical director. The members of the Youth Choir were all there, but the curtain failed to rise. Not until 8:30 did the curtain rise and it would have failed to rise even then, if the special ushers with their white shirts and black ties and arm bands with the letters O. D. on them and Hitler mustaches on their upper lips had not left the auditorium at that time.

The delay was all due to the fact that a leader of the German-American Citizens' League had invited the members of the local Nazi group to act as ushers for this occasion. The members of the German Youth Choir, who were the performers, refused to go on the stage until the Nazi ushers left the hall. The man who had invited these Nazis had to tell them that they were not wanted and not until they disappeared did the performance of "Hanz Fiedelman" begin.

Among Jews the five-pointed star is known as Solomon's Seal. The six-pointed star composed of two equilateral triangles is known as the Shield of David. Both these geometric forms are found in ancient inscriptions as decorative motifs. They have also been given various mystical interpretations. Both of them have been freely used among Jews for many centuries, the more so because the second commandment, interpreted as prohibiting an artist's portraying the likeness of anything in nature, drove the decorator toward geometrical ornamentation.

Will Speak In Washington At Palestine Meet

NEW YORK (JTA)—Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the Jewish Agency for Palestine and the World Zionist Organization, will be guest of honor at the National Conference for Palestine to be held in Washington on Jan. 24. Dr. Stephen S. Wise, chairman of the United Palestine Appeal, announced.

Dr. Weizmann, whose visit to the United States will be brief to enable him to return to London and Jerusalem before issuance of the Royal Commission's findings, will deliver several addresses at the conference and confer in Washington on American support of the Jews in Palestine.

Hearings Near End As Arabs Decline Bids

JERUSALEM (JTA)—The British Royal Commission, announcing in a communique that its hearing would shortly be concluded, invited individuals and organizations to present evidence. The invitation was interpreted as a last warning to the Arabs, who boycotted the commission's investigation into Arab terrorism and the government's administration of the Palestine mandate since it opened six weeks ago.

Falastin, Christian Arabic daily, said that rulers of neighboring Arab countries had intimated to Palestine's Arab Supreme Committee that the failure of the Arabs to appear before the Royal Commission would embarrass the kings later in diplomatic exchanges with the British Government.

They expressed hope that the Arab boycott of the inquiry would soon end, the paper said.

Two Jews Jailed For Putting Ad In Paper

MAGDEBURG, Germany (JTA)—For inserting an advertisement in a local paper which bans Jewish ads, two Jewish merchants were sentenced respectively to four and six weeks in jail. The "Aryan" through whom the ad was inserted was sentenced to four weeks' imprisonment.

GIVES $200,000 TO CHARITY

LONDON (JTA)—Isaac Levy, an English Jew not well known, bequeathed 40,000 pounds (about $200,000) to Jewish charities among bequests of over $210,000, it was revealed when his will was made public. The largest grant was to the Jewish Board of Guardians. While the amount of his insurance and endowment policies has not yet been established, the proceeds were bequeathed to the Jewish National Fund.

SYNAGOGUE SOLD

BERLIN (JTA)—With only five Jewish adults left in the community, the Fassgonheim Pfalz Synagogue has been sold.

The Editor's Chair

For the first time in about five years, recently, I met my college room-mate. He is a professor at a large Eastern university and, in my estimation, one of the most admirable men I have ever met. He is Jewish.

In correspondence some time ago, he wondered about my interest in Jewish affairs and Jewish problems. I tried to answer him as best I could, which was feeble enough, since I don't know myself. And as I look through his eyes, at the undergraduate I used to be, I wonder myself about my intense interest in Jewish affairs.

But at the reunion referred to above, my room-mate asked me why Jews wouldn't be better off if they forgot their religion altogether and became as one with the rest of the population. To answer that the rest of the population would not permit us to forget our Jewishness, and to point out the situation in Germany, where even back to the third generation Jewish blood means a Jew, did not answer his question. In fact, I doubt if there is a satisfactory answer.

Of course I could say that the great Jewish heritage and tradition must be perpetuated. But after all that is a weak argument. We are not in this world to suffer a historical burden, we moderns believe, and it is little consolation to a German Jew suffering all the tortures of the wrack to be told that he is the means of bringing the world to a realization of social justice or eternal peace.

Maybe you readers can furnish a more logical answer.

The Detroit Jewish Chronicle Is Disgusted

DISGUST beats heavily in the breast of the Detroit Jewish Chronicle.

That erudite publication has discovered that Jews do not devote every moment of their lives, every thought of their intellect to the morbid Jewish problem. And the Detroit Jewish Chronicle is disgusted.

And why this disgust. Have Jews refused to attend their synagogues. Have Jews refused to heed the words of their rabbis. Have Jews refused to contribute to campaigns. No! The Detroit Jewish Chronicle has brought down the wrath of its editorial venom on Ivrim, the Chicago honor society, which only a few days ago announced a plan for the selection of the seventy "greatest living Jews."

"The disgusting thing about this scheme," barks the Chronicle editorial writer, "is that Jews would devote themselves to nonsense at a time when the serious issues press for consideration."

This paper recalls when President Roosevelt was so "disgusting" just a few weeks hence that while the war drums beat in Europe he dallied on his return from the Buenos Aires Conference to fish. "Disgusting," is too mild a word for it. Imagine the head of a great Republic indulging himself "in nonsense at a time when the serious issues press for consideration" to use the words of the Chronicle.

For years now, the Zeta Beta Tau fraternity has awarded annually its Gottheil Medal, the American Hebrew has awarded a good will medal, and innumerable other organizations have been so "disgusting" as to dally and make awards for meritorious service while "serious issues press for consideration."

It is unthinkable! And this paper joins with the Chronicle in censuring the Ivrim, President Roosevelt, Zeta Beta Tau fraternity, and all others who refuse to worry every waking hour about serious issues.

How could Ivrim think of such a plan? What is the world coming to? Ivrim should make plans for a huge funeral pyre, to last from day to day, from year to year, so that Jews may mourn and forever be made aware of their plight. Or perhaps they may be able to persuade rabbis to pass a law making it a prison offense for a Jewish man to kiss his wife, play with his child, attend a movie, or participate in any other diversion which offers him a moment's peace and surcease from his pains.

How Can Mothers Answer Their Children About Christmas

THERE is not a Jewish mother in the United States who has not in the past ten days been asked by her children about Santa Claus, Christmas, the Christmas trees, and why Jewish people don't "do like other people" on Christmas.

And from observation this paper believes that Jewish mothers rarely are able to satisfy the curiosity and natural eagerness of their offspring. In many cases, but in less numbers as the years go by, mothers scold their children for even broaching questions in connection with Christmas. In others, the mothers are baffled for a means of intelligently imparting to their children the significance of the occasion.

It is indeed a difficult situation.

And then some mothers, Jewish of course, join in the spirit of the holiday, and erect Christmas trees in their own homes.

It seems that a general enlightenment about Christianity and what it stands for, including of course an explanation of the Christmas season, is called for. Through Sunday Schools, and other mediums, Jewish children should be given an understanding of the other religions of the world. Not alone Christianity, but Mohammedanism, and the remaining great religions. The franker the problem is faced, even in early childhood, the less confusing, the less mystery, the less curiosity, and the more understanding.

Cause of Judaism Today Is Cause of Christianity

By RABBI EDWARD L. ISRAEL

THIS is the Christmas season. Now, and at Easter, the religious emotions of the Christian world are stirred as at no other moments. It might perhaps seem presumptuous and inappropriate for a rabbi, a Jew, to address himself to a consideration of certain world events in the light of this Christian festival time. Yet that is the very thing which I am going to do. I write in a spirit of reverence and respect. I can only hope that my Christian readers will accept what I have to say in a full appreciation of this reverential attitude which characterizes my approach to this holy season of my Christian brothers.

Judaism and Christianity have much of their moral tradition in common. Some of the most famous expressions of Jesus of Nazareth are quoted from the Hebrew Bible or inspired by the teachings of the rabbis of old. I have, therefore, a particular as well as a general interest in the results of the application of Christian ethics to the life of mankind.

For sixteen hundred years, Christianity has been the official religion of the western world. For the greater portion of that period, Christians have constituted the majority group in every occidental nation. Because I am a member of a minority religion and race, I speak humbly, as indeed I must. Yet to Christian leaders at this holy Christmas, I beg leave to address a few sincere and heartfelt queries.

Why is it that throughout the western world today there is not a greater official Christian protest against the rising tide of anti-Semitism which marches with dreadful insistence throughout every nation? Can it be that Christian leaders are perfectly willing to see the Jewish people made to suffer for their stubborn adherence to a religious ideal which in most respects partakes of the same sources as does Christianity? Is it perhaps a subtle hope that persecution will dim the ardor of Jewish loyalty. If the latter is the case, it is indeed a forlorn hope. Persecution has ever intensified rather than retarded devotion of the Jew to his religion and race.

I am quite conscious of and deeply grateful for the occasional voices of protest against anti-Semitism which are raised by some Christian leaders. But these voices, alas, are few in number compared with those who are silent or who actively abet the cause of anti-Jewish hatreds.

The sad fact is that in many lands, the Jew-baiters parade unchallenged as official spokesmen of Christianity. In Roumania, in Poland and Austria, this is the case. In Germany, Christian voices were raised in defense only of apostate Jews who had deserted their faith. The sadistic persecutions of German Jewry by the Nazis were practically unchallenged by the German Christian clergy. In vain have we waited for the most powerful voice in Christendom to admonish the priests and bishops of Austria and Poland who have openly allied themselves with or even led the anti-Jewish propaganda. And here in America, for every clergyman who has rebuked anti-Semitism, there have been a thousand who are silent.

I state all this not in bitterness but as an earnest appeal. The intelligent person must see that the very forces which are anti-Semitic are really also anti-Christian. Look at Nazi Germany if you want your clearest proof.

For Christianity to temporize with these forces is merely to furnish them the strength which some day in the not distant future will be turned against Christianity itself. From a long range point of view Fascism or Nazism is every bit as much a menace to the survival of Christianity as is Communism. The latter may be a bit more direct and pointed in its destructive antagonism. The Fascist frequently uses a concealed knife instead of a blatant bludgeon. Yet the knife when it strikes is just as deadly.

The cause of Judaism today is also the cause of Christianity. The Christmas season is a good time to begin to realize this.

Hawaiian Article Recalls Interesting Incident To Subscriber

To the Editor:

Am happy to note your article, Dec. 11, 1936, "Hawaiian Jews Raise Funds for German Relief"—which proves they are becoming Jew conscious at last. I experienced the following when I visited there six and one-half years ago.

I had a Yahrzeit while there and wished to join a service. After I found out there were no Jewish services in the entire city of Honolulu on Friday evening or Saturday, I looked up the head of the Y. M. H. A. which was being organized at that time. Immediately their chairman had posters in as many hotels and other public places as would show them. He sent notices to the newspapers and also the naval base and soldiers' headquarters that a special service was to be held on the following Friday eve at the "Y" rooms.

We surely thought we could have a large attendance. After waiting until darkness, only eight men showed up.

So you can easily understand the joy I felt when reading your article. Later on I inquired of some of the Jewish families who live there why this condition existed. The answer in most cases was they did not need the Jewish influence or atmosphere. Upon further inquiry I found that many of the Jews were intermarried with the Christians. This, no doubt, was the reason for their trying to forget their faith.

It is most gratifying to feel that they are coming back to the fold. Or is it a new group of Jews who have penetrated the Islands, one of the most beautiful and restful spots in the world, and given the Hebrews another footing? I do so hope and trust that the work carries on.

Jews Want Neither Plaudits Nor Persecution

To the Editor:

It must have been a great shock to the Nazis when they discovered that three of their own scientists had published a book in which the Jew was upheld as superior mentally to the average German. How the book was published is hard to understand, and what I am thinking of now is the terrible retribution the Nazis will take out on these men and their families.

Jews do not care whether they are considered superior or not, but they do wish to be held as equals of other races. Let us hope that both the plaudits and the persecutions are withheld from us, and that we may soon live in peace side by side with other nationalities once again.

PEOPLE and PLACES

A Happy New Year

Well, it's Sunday again and rainy and dreary as usual for a Sunday but unusual for this time of the year, for the air is warm and balmy just like spring, and I might say that if this holds out I can't see the need of a chap packing himself off to the Southland. . . . As I sit here the radio is blaring forth the swing music of the Lombardos on the 4:30 Bakers program. . . . At the moment they are playing "Should Old Acquaintances Be Forgotten," which reminds me that this old year has about dropped its last grain of sand, and that the hour glass is ready to be turned over again. . . . By the time I get to the end of this column I will have forgotten it, so I'd better wish you all a happy New Year right now; yep, one packed with health, wealth, happiness and a lot of thrills that makes this old world worth living in. . . .

New Cars

The music goes on and the while I am going over in my mind the new car owners for this week. . . . They sure let me down this trip, for last week's eight new purchasers have dwindled to a mere two this week. . . . J. Solotken with a Chevy coupe and Max Marcus with a Chevy sedan. . . . How about raising our percentage for next week? . . . By the way, are you interested in who are buying the new ones these days? . . . I can't know if you don't tell me, so loosen up. . . . While on the subject of automobiles it's only a hop into gasoline business, which is exactly what Edward Joseph has done. . . . It's that little dinky Shell station on Thirtieth and Meridian Streets that he's going to turn into a beautiful gas and oil salon. . . . And if all Ed's friends support him with their patronage in his new venture, its success is assured. . . . Incidentally, I have heard the name of Sid Salinger mentioned also in connection with this new enterprise. . . . Tell me that the large, modern station on the opposite corner is not doing such a tremendous business, considering its size, location and owner. . . . Guess that corner is just one where the motorists bear down on the accelerator when approaching. . . .

Cupid

And now for a short spell with Cupid's bow, which has been zinging arrows these days faster than I can report them. . . . You know of course, that Harry Cooper and Ann Lehner have officially announced their engagement in the newspaper today, which I reported herein several weeks back. . . . And Dr. Edward Efromson comes forth with an announcement about his engagement to a Miss Jerrie Pringle, which surprises us all. . . . Understand the doctor is taking up residence in Chicago shortly, associating himself with a well known Chicago doctor. . . . And my two good friends, Joe Kaufman and Bess Robbins uniting into one in marriage without even a hint to me so that I might have made a scoop of it or something. . . . They tell me that Arthur Efromson is also that way about a pretty young lady, and may have something to tell us before long. . . . If you want to catch me late any night it'll be at Meyer B. Cohen's Drug Store on 28th and Central. . . . No, I'm not getting to be a "cowboy," but I do like his famous malted milks, and I always stop to get one on my way home from wherever I have been. . . . Meyer is doing all right in this spot. . . . Saw Ida Hartman in there the other night and spoke to

Founders Honored At Temple Affair

Silent tribute to the fourteen founders of the Indianapolis Hebrew Congregation and former rabbis was paid Tuesday night in the Columbia Club at a dinner-dance marking the 80th anniversary of the temple.

Names of the early pioneers and present descendants of the founders representing six generations were read by Rabbi Morris M. Feuerlicht, spiritual leader, who urged that a permanent record of the genealogy of the congregation be kept "in accordance with Jewish tradition."

The annual report of the board of directors was read by Louis J. Borinstein, president of the congregation.

Sidney J. Sternberger, Isidore Feibleman, Joseph M. Bloch, G. A. Efromson and Sol Goldsmith were unanimously re-elected directors of the congregation, Edgar S. Joseph, Jacob H. Hays, Edward Cohn and Mrs. Sydney Romer continue an unexpired term. The board will elect officers. Present officers are Mr. Borinstein, president; Mr. Goldsmith, vice president; William Schloss, treasurer, and George A. Solomons, executive secretary.

Youth Group Of Bethel Makes Plan

The executive committee of the Bethel Zedeck Youth Group last Tuesday night in the home of Miss Jeannette Solotken appointed a committee to formulate plans for a Vocational Guidance Group. The Misses Sally Maurer and Jeannette Solotken, Lester Engle, Philip Hyman, and Wallace Goldstein will present a tentative outline of the project at the next executive meeting.

Several courses in Jewish literature, great movements, and customs and ceremonies will be offered in addition to the monthly meetings of the organization, and these will be under the direction of competent cultural leaders. Sol Blumenthal and Alex Levin are also to sponsor a dramatic group for those who are seriously interested in theatre work.

Each of these individual projects will be discussed at length when the Youth Group meets Sunday evening, Jan. 17, in the vestry rooms of Bethel Temple. The speaker for the evening will be announced soon, and games and dancing will complete the entertainment.

her, but although she answered she looked puzzled. . . . So maybe she doesn't remember me. . . . How about it, Ida? . . . And also, Freda Camlot and her fiancé, who are probably Mr. and Mrs. by now. . . . Seems like Mr. and Mrs. Shulam Ettinger and "yours truly" have but one thought in mind and that is to eat. . . . Whether it be Sam's Subway, Martha Washington, Claypool Grille or White Castle, our paths and appetites apparently cross. . . . Talking about eating brings me up to the Prime Restaurant Christmas Day where I had my "goose." . . . I ate with my entire family, as did the entire Berkowitz family, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Jaffe, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Jaffe and daughter, Mr. Theodore Stein, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Yaver, Jae Yaver and wife and youngster, Mr. R. Beilach, Mr. Louis Serinsky, and many others. . . . Well, on the sick list for the week we have Janet Bamberger, who has been in bed for about a week with a heavy cold, but she is coming along O. K. and may be up by the time you read this. . . . Belle Stein is still ill, but has been removed to her home. . . . May have a surprise to tell you next week—stick with me. . . .

See Mussolini Rule to Halt Jewish Attacks

LONDON (JTA) — Diplomatic circles in Rome expect Premier Mussolini to take action to check anti-Semitic bias, which threatens to become a part of the Fascist creed, British newspapers reported.

In dispatches on the arrest of 214 Jews and flogging of three in Italian-ruled Tripoli for refusing to keep their shops open on Saturday, the Jewish Sabbath, newspapers said it was not entirely clear whether the sudden appearance of anti-Semitism was due to the Italo-German rapprochement.

Hear Jews To Protest

LONDON (JTA) — The Rome Jewish community will protest to the Italian government over arrests and floggings of Jews in Tripoli for refusing to keep their stores open on Saturday, the Jewish Sabbath. Leonard Montefiore, president of the Anglo-Jewish Association, announced at a meeting of the board of deputies of British Jews.

The announcement followed a discussion of whether the Jewish community should identify itself with the fight against Fascism in which Sir Robert Waley-Cohen, Jewish communal leader, emphasized that Italy was friendly to the Jews and that it would be "disastrous" to create a contrary impression.

Polish Jews See Ambassador

WARSAW (JTA) — A delegation from the Shomrei Sabbath (Sabbath Observers) was to visit the Italy embassy this week to protest against the arrest of 214 Jews in Tripoli and flogging of three for closing their shops on Saturday.

Europe Shows Interest In Debut of Orchestra

LONDON (JTA) — British newspapers, in dispatches from Palestine, praised the brilliant playing of the Palestine Symphony Orchestra in Tel Aviv under the baton of Arturo Toscanini.

Tremendous interest in the noted maestro's Palestine concerts has been evinced in many European countries. The Jewish Telegraphic Agency bureaus have received a number of inquiries as to whether the concert in Jerusalem on Wednesday, scheduled to be broadcast to the United States, would also be broadcast in Europe.

Toscanini Hailed

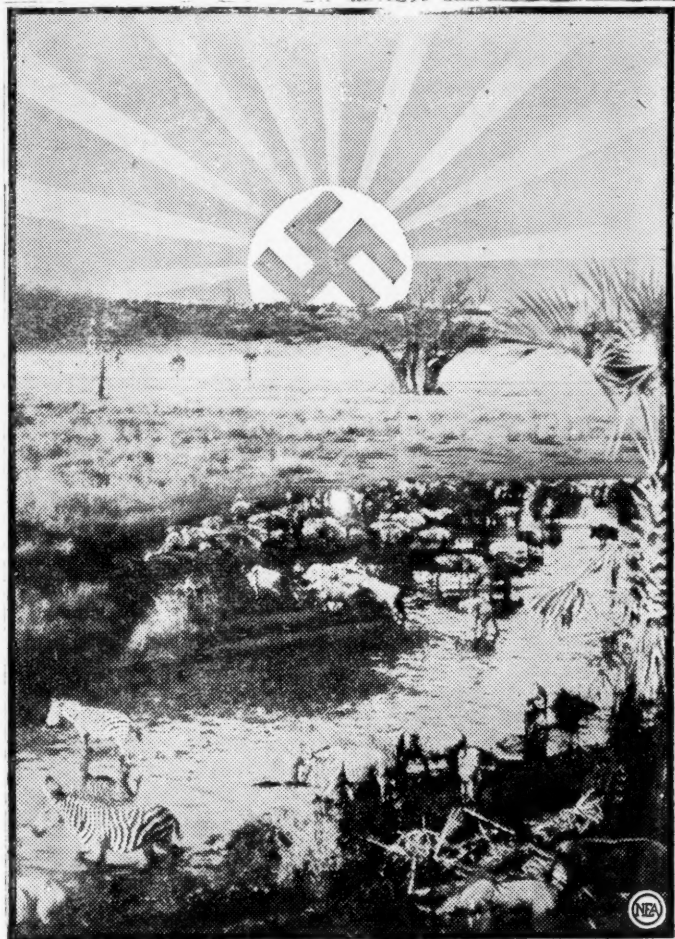

TEL AVIV (JTA) — The Holy Land this week took to its heart the world famed conductor, Arturo Toscanini, who presided over its most important cultural event in recent times—the opening concert of the Palestine Symphony Orchestra.

Before a capacity audience in the Levant Fair Hall near the shores of the Mediterranean the orchestra of musicians in exile from Germany played Rossini's "Scala di Seta" overture, Brahms' "Second Symphony," Schubert's "Unfinished Symphony," Mendelssohn's Nocturne from "A Midsummer Night's Dream" and Weber's "Oberon" overture.

Afterward, at a banquet in his honor at which Jewish leaders expressed gratitude to him for coming here, the noted conductor, who will be 70 years old next March, whispered:

"I have passed many countries; here I have found my corner."

Nazi Sun Rises Over Africa Again

Out of the present war-threatened situation in Europe, the Nazis may realize one of their greatest diplomatic coups—the return of her African colonies lost in the war. Chief among the colonies are German Southwest Africa and Tanganyika, both under British mandate now. The picture above portrays graphically the rise of the Nazi (swastika-adorned) sun over African land.

Son of Prominent Family Seeks to Join Loyalists

Louisville, Ky. (Spl)—A Jewish youth, Joseph Selligman, Jr., 19, was on his way this week to enlist in the Loyalist forces in Spain, according to word received by his father, Joseph Selligman, Sr., 1415 Willow Avenue, attorney.

The youth was a student at Swarthmore College, near Philadelphia. The family learned of his plans following an investigation begun when no letters were received from him. A roommate said young Selligman sailed from New York December 30.

Mr. Selligman said his son, always terming himself a pacifist, had no military experience or training, and had acted on "youthful enthusiasm." He said he was making efforts to communicate and said the 200 Jews, including financiers, industrialists and men with his son and to verify reports that he had gone to a training camp near Paris.

Mr. Selligman is one of the city's most prominent Jewish leaders. Last year he handled the United Jewish Campaign. He is a member of the executive committee of the Louisville Conference of Jewish Organizations.

bers of the liberal professions, wished to become baptized.

They were also quoted as having offered to build an imposing Greek Orthodox church for converted Jews and as having asked that the patriarch appoint a baptized Jew as a priest. The paper objected to such appointment, urging that the place be occupied by an experienced Greek Orthodox clergyman.

Patriarch Christea expressed satisfaction with the offer of conversion, the report said, but requested that each of the Jews present a petition asking admission to the church.

Wholesale Conversion Reported By Paper

BUCHAREST (JTA) — Two hundred prominent Rumanian Jews have offered to become converted to the Greek Orthodox faith to "identify themselves completely with the Rumanian nation," it was reported by the newspaper Curentul, which is closely connected with the ecclesiastical authorities.

The paper said that in consequence of increasing tendencies among Rumanian Jews to adopt the Greek Orthodox religion, Rumanian church officials intend to start an intensive campaign for mass conversion of Jews and are ready to appoint special missionaries for this purpose.

According to the account, Charles Spiegler, a Bucharest lawyer, and A. Companitz, industrialist, approached a Patriarch Miron Christea

FASCISTS FACE ARREST

LONDON (JTA) — Police prepared this week to proceed with severity against any Fascist found wearing a uniform after Jan. 1, when the new law prohibiting political uniforms went into effect. It was reported that thousands of Fascists intended to keep their uniforms as souvenirs.

U. P. A. GOAL 5 MILLION

NEW YORK (JTA) — The thirteenth annual conference of the Greater New York Council of Jewish Organizations adopted a resolution Sunday suggesting that the United Palestine Appeal adopt a $5,000,000 quota.

Mischa Auer's Rise To Stardom The Old Story

By HELEN ZIGMOND

HOLLYWOOD— Mischa Auer's screen career is typically "Hollywood." Some five years ago we remember him, a tragic minor character in "The Yellow Ticket." Little note was taken of his work . . . he struggled along . . . small roles came from time to time. Then suddenly he was "discovered." His melancholy face and lachrymal eyes were sensationally—funny! He convulsed audiences in "My Man Godfrey" . . . likewise, "The Gay Desperado" . . . had the previewers laughing before he opened his mouth in "Girl From Paris." Today he is in constant demand . . . as a comic.

Phil Baker, one of the few foot-lighters who have resisted the cinema, is reported signing for Sam Goldwyn.

Walter Winchell's contract for a flicker appearance contains a strange clause . . . that "at no time during the term of the contract will Waltah be required to change the color of his hair nor the arrangement of his teeth!" He will be co-featured in the film with his arch-enemy, Ben Bernie. A dimwit suggests as a title, "Born Too Dense."

Few paid attention to Bobby Breen's first cinema appearance. It was in the Hecht-MacArthur's "Once in a Blue Moon" . . . Master Borsuk (originally tagged) was billed as Jackie Borreen.

The stories about Max Gordon, tune-smith, are becoming as multitudinous as his poundage. Arriving late the other day he decided to take a short cut to the set by way of the automobile entrance. "Can I get through this gate?" he asked. "Yes," replied the watchman, "I guess you can—I just saw truck load of hay go through okay."

Gordon has a faithful appetite . . . it never fails him. In the studio commissary the waitress set before him an order of filet mignon. Eyeing it steadily, he complained, "Is that a steak? I usually LEAVE more than this!"

Oddities:

Ben Blue once fired Martha Raye . . . now they're a team in pictures. Eleanor Whitney flew to Cleveland for a personal appearance and forgot to take her speech along.

In 1909 Billy Gilbert, the sneezing comic, fought a twenty-five round heavyweight battle.

Rumania, Hungary, Switzerland, Yugoslavia, Turkey and PALESTINE do not want American pictures with the original text . . . they prefer a German synchronization.

In the new American Hebrew's "Who's Who" only four theatrical names are glorified: Max Gordon, Alla Nazimova, Paul Muni, and Edna Ferber.

In the Bronx they billed it, "My Man Gottlieb!"

Sybil Jason, as an employee, made her application for the Old Age Pension. After 1933 she won't have to worry about making a living.

Alene Carroll (real name: Alene Nathan) discovered there are other paths to film fortune besides that of beauty. She finds being homely also fortunate . . . makes capital of her plain face . . . and has secured numerous film roles.

Cracklings: J. Edward Bromberg has taken off fifteen pounds of rotundity under the desert sun. Barrymore not only married Barrie, but has adopted the whole Jacobs family . . . the four-some, Momma, Poppa, Elaine, and Jack, are frequently seen together at the night spots. . . . Francine Larimore bought a two-thousand-dollar wardrobe for the king's coronation.

A friend reported to Groucho that he had overheard their respective wives chatting. "You're wife says she is going to Europe. Have you any objections?" "Not at all," replied Groucho, "Let her talk."

Major Attlee Wins Libel Suit Over Editor

Apology Made To Member of Parliament

LONDON (JTA)—A libel action brought by Major Clement R. Attlee, leader of the Opposition in the House of Commons, this week forced Colonel Graham Seton Hutchinson, notorious anti-Semite and leader of the so-called National Workers Party, to withdraw his anti-Semitic pamphlet, "Truth."

The pamphlet called Major Attlee a Jew, accused him of engineering the World War, supporting white slavery and engaging in other objectionable practices usually attributed by anti-Semites to Jews. Major Attlee withdrew the action following an apology and payment of court costs by Col. Hutchinson and suppression of the pamphlet.

When the case was called, the court declared that Col. Hutchinson had "better change the name of the pamphlet, otherwise he will find himself in a criminal court."

Attribute Suicide of Glass In Texas to Exile From Germany

BEAUMONT, Texas (JTA)—Exiled from Nazi Germany, Larry (Lothar) Glass hung himself with a makeshift noose of napkins and a handkerchief rather than live the life of a man without a country, it was believed this week.

Glass, nephew of Herman Lissner, New York manufacturer, told a librarian at the Tyrrell Public Library that he felt "unwanted" in a conversation two days before the suicide. The librarian, Miss Pearl Burr, said:

"He told me he was forced out of Germany, went into France where he seemed unwanted, and then, too, became discouraged, as it would have taken him ten years there before he could be naturalized. He said he then came to America and was sent into Corinth to learn the pantsmaking business in his uncle's Weaver Pants Co. plant at that city.

"There he quickly found that he again was not wanted. He said the story came back to him numerous times that the boss of the plant had fired another man to give the nephew of the owner a job. Rather than stay where he said he did not seem to fit in he decided to get away and earn a living on his own."

Glass asked Miss Burr for employment, and when told there was no position open, asked if he could use her name as a reference in seeking work. Miss Burr granted him his wish, but he left town the next day.

Mrs. Roosevelt Visits School

NEW YORK (Spl.)—In her regular syndicated column which appears daily in many newspapers, Eleanor Roosevelt, first lady of the land, told of her attendance at a luncheon of the Mothers Club at the Jewish Center School in Far Rockaway, L. I.

She wrote:

"Yesterday I went to speak at the Jewish Center School in Far Rockaway, L. I., at a luncheon which the Mothers Club had arranged. I was much interested in the school itself and in what they are trying to do. It is a progressive school, but they are teaching Hebrew and trying to preserve the knowledge and culture of their race and make it of value to young America.

"I wonder if many racial groups could not take a leaf out of their book, and if the result might not be far-reaching in making us understand other nations, and what we have drawn from them. Respect is the first requisite to good fellowship."

Jewish Girl, 7, Lights City Tree

DETROIT, Mich. (Spl.)—A seven year old Jewish girl, Beverly Pearson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pearson, lighted the municipal Christmas tree in front of the city hall Thursday evening.

Beverly was crippled by infantile paralysis three years ago and is now able to walk around with the aid of a cane. She has been in the Children's Hospital of Michigan.

Rabbi Puts Temple In Semi-Darkness to Aid Services

HOUSTON, Tex. (Spl.)—Rabbi Robert I. Kahn, here, is experimenting with a novel service, which he believes will make services more impressive and inspiring.

Turning down the lights so that the entire Temple is in semi-darkness, Rabbi Kahn conducts services. He explained that the darkened service seeks to make the surroundings more spiritual and God-like. Its purpose is to take away those things which tend to detract rather than attract.

The worshippers received the new service with increased interest.

Jewish Women Form Military Division

Polish Deputy Maligning Jewish Dead Is Challenged to Duel WARSAW (JTA)—Several Jewish army officers have challenged Endek Deputy Budzinsky to a duel for insulting the memory of the Jewish war dead in a speech to the Sejm (lower Parliamentary house). Budzinsky, himself a former officer, received the challengers' seconds.

At the same time, the Union of Jewish Ex-Servicemen telegraphed Marshal Smigly-Rydz, head of the Polish Legion and virtual dictator of Poland, expressing indignation against what it called the affront to the Jews killed in the war.
